SECOND SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR HAS LARGE CROWDS SATURDAY

Bethel's second Bazaar was a very successful event in every way, with apparently larger attendance in spite of a rainy afternoon. None of the planned features was omitted, although rain halted the Bethel A. C. - Raiders baseball game at the Gould field for a time. The game was finished at Thurston Field (page 4). Receipts at several booths were greater than last year, but increased expenses will probably cut down the total. The concert of the Bethel Band in the early evening was especially appreciated.

At a meeting of the Bazaar Committee Monday, August 28, the same Finance Committee was re-elected with the addition of Dwight Martin from Locke Mills. It was voted to allot $150 to the Legion for next year's 4th of July celebration, and half of the final net proceeds to the Locke Mills rebuilding fund. Returns were incomplete so final figures will be published later.

Great credit is due all the loyal workers and particularly Roderick McMillin for his many labors and effective leadership. Praise is also due those whose painstaking efforts made the decorative parade a success and the booths so attractive. And many thanks to those who so generously donated materials, time and prizes, and to all who patronized the Bazaar.

Many prizes were won at the children's games and guessing contests. First prize at bowling went to Earl Hutchinson, second to Jesse Chapman, third to Richard Parlin, fourth to Richard Carter, and scoring prizes to Albert Smith and Kay Eames. The Lions' puppy was won by Edward Haines, the sugar by Peter Schmitt, the ham by Mrs. S. L. LeClair, two chickens by Harold Marshall, one each by Ronny Willard and Edmund Smith. Irene Wright won the Eastern Star beagle and Bob Lucas won the Bethel Players' market basket. Sixty games of Beano were enjoyed by all who played, except Dr. Twaddle, Dan Forbes and Mrs. J. W. Williams, who lost into the fountain. No other casualties were reported to the Scouts' First Aid Booth.

The Parade was a great attraction, headed by Jerl Brown on horseback, Christine Willard as drum major, the Bethel Band, and the Bethel Fire Department.

The following places were awarded by the judges:

Bicycles—1st, Mike Hathaway; 2nd, Hugh Power; 3rd, Betty Lou York.

Bethel-Gilead-Newry School Bus Schedules

Bethel elementary school conveyance routes this year will be the same as last year with the following minor changes. The East Bethel route will be run ten to fifteen minutes later in the morning, starting to pick up pupils in the vicinity of Locke Mills at about 7:30. A slight extension of the West Bethel route may make the time of this route up to West Bethel about five minutes earlier than last year. At this time it cannot be said for certain that the short extra trip to Skillingston will be necessary, the time will be the same as last year. Times of Albany, Rumford road, Locke Mills road, Northwest Bethel, will approximate those of last year.

Elementary conveyance on Sunday River in Newry will start somewhat later in the morning than it did last year because no high school pupils will be going on it.

Gilead will provide conveyance for the pupils on the north side of the river this year.

GOULD BUS TO EAST BETHEL

The Gould bus will again pick up Academy students from Middle Intervale and East Bethel along with those from Locke Mills. The same schedule as was used year before last will be tried again this fall. Anyone having questions about transportation should contact the Academy office.

MAINE MANUFACTURERS SHOWING AT SPRINGFIELD

Nearly 40 Maine manufacturers will exhibit their products in the Maine Publicity Bureau exhibit at the Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Mass., Sept. 17 to 23. J. Henry Johnson, special promotions manager of the Bureau announced this week.

Johnson said it would be the largest grouping of Maine industrial products at the show in the past several years, since the Publicity Bureau first organized the project to call attention to Maine's diversified manufactures.

Cooperating with the Publicity Bureau in this year's exhibit will be Baker Refrigeration Corp., South Windham; G. H. Bass and Co., Wilton; H. C. DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Trust the Mercy of the Court

LEO J. SQUILLANTE, Mount Vernon, N. Y., says that he learned if you are facing a fight, or even a dilemma will come out better nine times out of 10 if you throw your mercy on the mercy of the other fellow than if you attempt to fight him. He illustrates it with the following story:

One cold night in December he was caught in a steel storm about 20 miles from his home, when his car broke down on the highway. To make matters worse, his wife and their little 15-month-old son were with him. Finally he abandoned the car and got home.

In a few days he was served with a summons to appear in night court to explain why he had left his car on the highway over night.

When he arrived in the courtroom, there were only three people, the judge, the state trooper and himself. It was the procedure in that court for the judge to leave the courtroom while the defendant told his story to the arresting officer.

He started on the story, noting the cold, apparently immovable expression on the officer's face. However, as he said he knew he was guilty so he couldn't plead any other way, that officer relaxed a little. When the judge re-entered, the officer proceeded to appoint himself as Mr. Squillante's attorney. He told the judge the story far more sympathetically and effectively than Mr. Squillante could have done.

The judge asked, "What is your plea?" "Guilty," came the reply. "No, don't do that," said the judge. "Do you know what Nolo Contendere means?" "Does it mean, 'I don't wish to fight'?" "That's right," said the judge. "In other words, you place yourself at the mercy of the court." "I plead Nolo Contendere."

"Case dismissed," said the judge, who was human and understanding, as are many officers when the case warrants it, but tough if an offender seems to have no respect for the law.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

The tragedy in Korea has demonstrated a fact that many of us, including highly-placed military men, had tended to forget—that there can be two kinds of war.

Up to the time that North Korea sent her troops pouring across the 38th parallel, we had been thinking in terms of the "big" intercontinental war. This, if it came, was to be war on an unprecedented scale and of an unprecedented type. It was to be a war of amazing machines which would wreak death and destruction on a huge scale and at vast distances. A button would be pushed, and an atom bomb or a guided missile would be on its way toward a target.

By LYDIE HULL

DOESN'T OUR FAILURE to properly arm and fortify the southern end of the Korean peninsula indicate anything at all to those groups and editorialists who, once having taken a stand against arming Spain, stick to that stand regardless? Why do they close their minds to the obvious? There is no disgrace attached to an error in judgment. These groups and writers are, for the most part, as violently opposed to slavery concealed beneath the name "communism," as is France himself. The difference is that France knows from bloody experience what communism means, and we don't.

Some of the really sincere objectors to "saying western Europe through Spain" claim that our allies over there are opposed to the inclusion of a dictatorship in their "fraternity of nations." This was true to a large extent when the cold war was simmering and prior to the Communist attack in Korea. But now these nations realize that their existence depends upon combined strength to stop Russia when that nation starts its march toward the English channel.

The tune is changing over there where the answer is life or death. But you can't change the tune over here! Religious groups, racial groups, labor groups, "long-haired" groups, pink groups and Red groups either don't think, or don't care, or do care, or violently oppose doing in Spain what we didn't do in Korea. Some of our most prominent daily newspapers seem embarrassed to change a now out-moded stand and use sometimes childish arguments to cover their position.

If there exist strategic reasons against arming Spain, that would be a different matter. Maybe there are such reasons, but if so, the "objectors" don't know of them. Much of the argument advanced is so tragically incoherent, or so obviously the result of the subtle propaganda which has been levelled against our interests, as to be almost nauseating.

The senate has voted a loan to Spain of $100,000,000. Will this amount save our necks?

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLDTIMERS

From C. D. Buckley of Kipton, O.: "I remember when I could get a haircut and a shave at the local barber's for 25 cents."

From Harry Dyer of Loxley, Ala.: "I remember when men's and boy's clothing was stacked up in piles in clothing stores. This naturally put creases in all suits. When the clothes were sold, a suit he was made to take it to a tailor and have the creases pressed out. Why? Because with creases, the suit looked like a ready-made garment or 'hand-me-down'."

and not many men wanted the distinction of wearing anything but tailor-made suits. Besides, creases in trousers were considered 'silly' in those days. The suit I bought was pre-pressed against creases although I do wear 'em, sometimes."

From Mrs. Mary Stewart of Chicago: "I remember the pride housewives took in their beating slacks. There were several well-known makes on the market—Acorn, Jewel, Garland, Eclair and others much trimmed with nickel, clean, shiny, hard coal was $3.50 per ton. The schoolboy's job was to take out the ashes, stir them for unburned coals to put back in the stove, then haul in three buckets from the woodshed at the end of the lot. When the stove was cooled, shaken down and put in order for the next 24 hours, he would get the kerosene can and run to the grocery store for a gallon of two of oil. Sister would then proceed to clean the lamp chimney, trim the wicks and fill the lamps. With all these household tasks to do, there was practically no delinquency in these days."

A. C. SPLIT AND TIE IN THREE GAMES WITH VIRGINIA

The Bethel A. C. traveled to Virginia on Sunday afternoon to play the first of a best of three series to determine the Oxford County League representative to the Yankee Amateur Baseball Congress tournament at Rumford, the first games of which are this week end.

Moving out to a nine to one lead at the end of three and a half innings, the A. C. piled it on to win 18-2 in seven innings. Burt Rolfe, Pete Baker and Cad Bennett each scored four runs for the winners as the team pounded three Virginia hurlers for 16 hits.

In the second game of the afternoon, played at Thurston Field, Herbie Kittredge pitched four-hit ball, but lost because of bases on balls and failure of his teammates to bunt any of their eight hits.

On Wednesday night the two teams met for the third game at Homer Field in Rumford. Darkness halted play after seven innings had been completed with the score tied at 3-3. A play-off of this type is slated for Friday at 5:30 p. m. on the Gould Academy field. If for any reason a decision is not reached, the officials of the league, Paul Halvey of Bethel, Ray Lamson of Rumford, and John Kival of Virginia, will have to decide the team that is to be the league's representative.

A. C. TAKES BAZAAR GAME FROM RAIDERS, 6-5

The Bethel A. C. edged out the Bethel Raiders last Saturday afternoon in the game played for the benefit of the Bethel Bazaar.

Rain interrupted the contest in the last half of the third inning with A. C. runners on first and second and the score 6-4 in favor of the A. C. The game was transferred to Thurston Field after a hard shower had made the Gould field very soggy.

Dave Jordan's wildness in the opening frames cost the Raiders the game. A combination of three walks, one with the bases loaded, and two hits permitted four A. C. runs in the second inning.

Ray Chase, who had started the game at shortstop, took over the mound duties after the interruption and allowed but a single hit and one run for the remainder of the game.

Dale Thurston started for the A. C. and pitched the first seven innings allowing all of the Raiders' tallies. Outfielder Burt Rolfe pitched the final two frames.

RAIDERS DROP 6-2 VERDICT TO ANDOVER SUNDAY

Leo Cyr held the Raiders to five widely scattered hits and smashed out a home run to score two teammates who had singled ahead of him and nail down the victory as a well balanced and greatly improved Andover nine crossed bats with the Raiders on Thurston Field early last Sunday afternoon.

All this occurred in the second inning. In the third the visitors doubled this advantage on a pass, three steals, a pair of hits, a wild pitch and a passed ball. Whether the agility of the batters or lack of effort by the pitcher failed to produce a hit batsman in this frame was difficult to ascertain from the sidelines and why no errors were committed is a mystery but about everything else that could happen did.

For the Raiders Bob Mills singled to right in the third and scored on Clay Crockett's single to left. In the final inning Bill Robertson walked, was advanced to third when Clay singled to right, scoring as Ken Roberts maced up Glen Witter's roller through mid-field.

Ken then successfully threw out Parker at first and Cyr fanned Bryant and Andy Witter to end the game.

Golden Text: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night" (Psalms 119, 2).

THE AMERICAN WAY

A Real Wage Boost
by Maurice R. Franks
(EDITOR'S NOTE: Maurice R. Franks is President of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

To seek a better and better living for oneself and one's family is a basic human right. It is a cardinal principle of the free enterprise system. What is more, it is the chief energizing force in any nation's economy. The high standard of living enjoyed by the people of the United States is a monument to its effectiveness - for the history of our country is the history of effective human response to competitive opportunity.

In the days when the employers constituted an all-powerful dynasty, the right to seek a better living was collectively denied the manual workers or our nation. As a result of this downward pressure on the rank and file of our growing industrial society, the workers banded together into unions. The opportunity to gain a fairer share of the fruits of their toil was present, in the form of organization. This opportunity was guaranteed by the fundamental law of the land; the opportunity was responded to and the response became increasingly successful. Through the economic pressure exerted by their expanding organizations, the workers broke the tyrannical power of their employers and secured for themselves a real wage boost.

Their action was wholly in line with the spirit of free enterprise; it was competitive - for the workers were competing for purchasing power - and their success was good for the national economy.

That the emancipation of the workers added immeasurably to the standard of living of the nation as a whole is seen at a glance in the appeal of national advertising. The bulk of our total production today is for popular consumption - for purchase by the very men and women who themselves turn out the goods in shop and factory.

This extension of effective purchasing power through real wage boosts to workers, has led to broad-or markets, increased production, lower consumer prices and added profits for the manufacturer. Our entire economy has thus been advanced.

But, as in the case of every process, a saturation point is eventually reached and from there on in, the law of diminishing returns applies. If it turns out that so much is charged by labor for its services that the employer is cut off from a reasonable return on his financial investment, either he raises the price of his commodity or he goes out of business.

In either event, labor is deprived of purchasing power - because when prices go up, the worker gets less for his dollar; and when an employer throws in the sponge, his workers are out of a job and have no earnings at all to spend.

These are thoughts which should be borne in mind by our American workers. They should not permit themselves to demand a fifth round of wage boosts. The laws of economics, like those of physical science, were not debated and passed by any legislative body. They rule our world and cannot be repealed by wishful thinking. Water won't flow uphill, square pegs won't fit in round holes and blood can't be squeezed from a stone. To these facts we must adjust and also to the fact that purchasing power can only be produced.

High prices result from high labor time costs. High taxes are the result of government's attempt to do what industry cannot do. But a high living standard is the result of high production alone.

If the American worker still seeks to better his condition, then he must quit thinking of how many more cents per hour he can wrangle for his time and start figuring how best he can create additional purchasing power for himself. It's time he got wise to himself, for truly he stands in need of a REAL WAGE BOOST.

LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

You know, most folks figure that their grandpas and grandmas were skookum persons. But what I choose to pay off my dimes about now is, that most of us are not in the same class for sturdiness and horsemanship, as were our forefathers. Now don't get mad—and quit reading—I may say something.

We must win our New War—I ain't for same, everybody is—regardless of cost. But while we are pouring out diners for guns and ammunition, we should not be crippling our effort—and make the job tougher—by also pouring out other millions on unneeded left-handed experiments. As we gaze across the oceans and find how little we have in the way of equipment and weapons from our past 5 years of spending of around 50,000,000,000 on defense, what is cooking on the home front now, today. It is Socialism coming in at the back door—the Govt. is barging further into everything. When some Senator—like this Paul Douglas person of Illinois—says, as a beginning, let's cut out some fancy reclamation expenses on account our crops are already too enormous, what happens. The other senators howl him down.

It will be a flimsy kind of victory to lick the communists in Korea, and then find we been donating our time, and wake up with Govt. ownership and socialism ensconced in the saddle here at home. Grandpa and grandma would not have been stickered in such fashion—not on your tinypie.

Yours with the low down,
JO BEHRA

Nobody's Business

There is a general satisfaction in the community on the success of the Bazaar last Saturday. Complete cooperation of nearly every organization in such a project is encouraged and the full enjoyment and appreciation of the workers' efforts made a happy day.

Selection of the Common for this year's activities was an improvement. The added space gave ample room for the crowd and highway traffic moved freely except during the parade. Those who feared damage to the grounds should be at ease, for by Sunday night there was nothing to indicate the busy scenes of the day before.

Construction and activity of a permanent nature is busily going on although much of it is not in conspicuous places. The new mill foundation at Locke Mills is rapidly taking shape. Work of excavation for Bethel's new grade school building has gone ahead during the week. The huge ditch for the sewer and Portland-Montreal pipe line attracts a few visitors in the West Bethel-Gilead area.
